EUROPEAN APPROACH TO DESIGNING

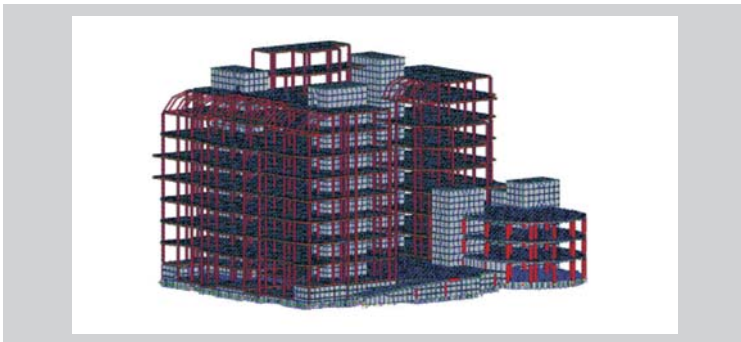

OOO T-KONSULT is engaged in designing of buildings made of precast concrete and metal according to European technologies Consolis.

Precast concrete constructions meet modern requirements of profitability, reliability and environmental security. Use of precast concrete reduces terms of construction, allows to realize any architectural-planning solutions.

Our employees' experience and developed effective constructive solutions can guarantee qualitative designing in short terms.

MAIN DIRECTIONS:

Static, strength calculations of buildings and constructions, including modular preintense ferro-concrete constructions (hollow-core slabs, slabs of TT type, rafter I-shaped beams, etc.).

Optimization of design solutions of car parks with application of preintense ferroconcrete constructions (quantity of ramps, movement directions, variants of placing of machines, etc.)

Design engineering of residential and public buildings, logistical and industrial complexes made of precast concrete and metal
